The Secretariat of the International Commission suggested a symbol of the celebration this year - to create a

TOLERANCE

PUZZLE.

In Lithuania, the International Day for Tolerance was marked by 993 educational institutions

More about the initiative:

Pupils participated in remote classes on the topic of tolerance, analyzed examples of history, read literature, looking for examples of tolerance and intolerance. The result of the International Day for Tolerance celebration comprises drawings, installations, collages, etc. created by children and young people. Many democratic countries in the world have been celebrating November 16 since 1995, when it was declared the International Day for Tolerance by UNESCO. The marking of this day in Lithuania has been initiated by the International Commission for the Evaluation of the Crimes of the Nazi and Soviet Occupation Regimes in Lithuania since 2003.
